A MESSAGE TO THE community
FROM THE president

During the academic year 2012-2013 at Vance-Granville Community College, I had the pleasure of celebrating excellence and success in many different ways.

With the college's reaffirmation of accreditation, our outstanding Dinner Theater production of "Our Town," our record-breaking Golf Tournament, our introduction of new programs, and the countless accomplishments of our students, faculty and staff, it was a great year to be a Vanguard!

Most importantly, we celebrated success as we proudly sent our graduates into new careers and new opportunities for learning, in which they will continue to represent VGCC as alumni. We are proud to present these highlights, among many others, in this Report to the Community.

The year 2012-2013 was also about looking forward to how we can excel and succeed in the future. During this year, after a deliberative process involving our faculty, staff and trustees, we approved the new VGCC strategic plan, called the "Vanguard Vision." The plan, which includes new Mission and Vision Statements, is a road map that will guide everything we do here at VGCC from 2014 through 2019, which is also when we will celebrate our college's 50th anniversary.

We have the responsibility to carry forward this institution's nearly half-century tradition of educating, inspiring and supporting a diverse community of learners to achieve professional and personal success. At the same time, we must innovate, serve and lead our region in an era of tremendous change.

With the support of our communities, Vance-Granville Community College is poised for greatness in 2013-2014 and beyond!

Dr. Stelfanie Williams
VGCC President

an evening, a year ...

It was a year to remember in 2012-2013 as Vance-Granville Community College staged its first Dinner Theater, received notice of reaffirmation of accreditation, graduated its first Early College High School students, formed a unique partnership with North Carolina A&T, launched new programs and celebrated student and staff successes, among a variety of activities. We hope you enjoy our President's Report.

SACS Reaffirms VGCC's Accreditation

In June, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) Commission on Colleges voted to reaffirm VGCC's accreditation with no conditions. Every ten years, colleges and universities that, like VGCC, have already been accredited must seek reaffirmation to maintain their status. As part of the reaffirmation process, VGCC hosted an on-site committee in September 2012 and submitted extensive reports and a Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) required by the accrediting agency. A QEP is a long-term course of action that addresses a topic or issue related to improving student learning and/or students' learning environment. VGCC's plan, entitled "Advising in 3D: Dream, Design, Discover," is focused on academic advising and career planning.

VANGUARD VISION

In the fall of 2012, President Dr. Stelfanie Williams appointed a committee of faculty and staff members to develop a framework for the college's new strategic plan. With input from students, employees and the broader communities the college serves, the committee developed the Vanguard Vision strategic plan with five key areas of focus:

Educational Excellence;
Organizational Culture of Quality, Cooperation and Engagement;
Continuous Improvement;
One College Experience;
Institutional Stewardship.

From these key areas of focus, goals were set. The plan was presented to the VGCC Board of Trustees at the Board Retreat in September 2013. The plan will be implemented from 2014 through 2019.

MISSION STATEMENT

Vance-Granville Community College educates, inspires, and supports a diverse community of learners to achieve professional and personal success.

VISION STATEMENT

In partnership with our community, Vance-Granville Community College will lead the economic development of our region, be nationally-recognized for educational excellence, and improve our world through stewardship and sustainability.

A Message From Our Board Chair

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I would like to commend and congratulate the outstanding administration, faculty and staff of Vance-Granville Community College for their accomplishments this year — and every year! At the same time, I would like to recognize our talented students, whose achievements continue to inspire me and my fellow Trustees. During 2012-2013, we have seen our college rise to meet new challenges and, with our new “Vanguard Vision” in place, the stage is set for even more progress. None of this is possible without the steadfast support of our communities. We are so appreciative of the many citizens of Vance, Granville, Franklin and Warren counties who partner with our college and contribute to our success. VGCC is here to serve the people and the businesses of our four counties and is an invaluable resource for our region's future economic development. Together, we will continue to advance our four-county area by ensuring the success of Vance-Granville Community College.

VANGUARD FIRSTS

Early College High Schools Celebrate Graduations

This year, VGCC celebrated the graduations of the first students from all four of the early college high schools operated by the college in partnership with four local school systems. A total of 46 students graduated with degrees or diplomas from VGCC while also graduating from high school in 2013. These included not only students who completed the program in the typical five-year sequence at Vance County Early College High School and Warren Early College High School (both of which opened in 2008), but also a group of students who graduated in four years or less at the two other schools, Granville Early College High School and Franklin County Early College High School, which opened in August 2009 and January 2010, respectively. Pictured, Cheyenna Francis, right, is greeted by President Dr. Stelfanie Williams as she walks across the stage during WECHS commencement exercises at Warren County High School, where the special guest speaker was N.C. Community College System President Dr. Scott Ralls, left.

VGCC, A&T Form ADN Partnership

VGCC and North Carolina A&T State University formed a partnership to allow graduates of the college's Associate Degree Nursing program to easily transition to A&T's four-year Nursing degree program. From left, Dr. Stelfanie Williams and university Chancellor Harold L. Martin Sr. formally signed their new agreement in a ceremony on February 8, 2013, in the Civic Center. Through this new "RN to BSN" partnership program, a Registered Nurse will be able to earn a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing within as little as one year of earning his or her associate degree at VGCC. Once students transfer, they will be able to complete a majority of their coursework online. This was A&T's first RN to BSN agreement with a community college.

NURSING INSTRUCTORS EARN NEW CERTIFICATIONS

Three instructors from the VGCC Nursing program earned the designation Certified Nurse Educator (CNE) in 2013 after meeting strict eligibility criteria and successfully completing a rigorous certification examination developed and administered by the National League for Nursing. The newly certified educators are, from left, instructor Anna R. Seaman, Nursing department chair Erica L. Jastrow, and instructor Camella G. Marcom. They are the first VGCC Nursing faculty to become certified through this program.

VANGUARD

In The Nationals

VGCC golf team member Becky Anderson of Henderson, accompanied by Coach Bobby Paff, participated in the 2013 National Junior College Athletic Association Women's Golf National Championship in Mesa, Arizona. Anderson became not only the first golfer from VGCC to play in the national championship, but also the first Vanguard student-athlete in any sport to participate in a national postseason tournament. Anderson finished in the top half among individual golfers at the tournament.

SIMPLY THE BEST

BRIAN CLEMMONS STAFF MEMBER OF YEAR

Brian Clemmons was named Staff Member of the Year for 2012-2013. Clemmons served as assistant director of financial aid at VGCC from 2007 through 2012, when he became Director of Financial Aid at Asheville-Buncombe Technical Community College. He earned a bachelor's in Public Policy Studies at Duke University and a master's in Public Administration at North Carolina Central University. Clemmons received the VGCC President's Leadership Award in 2011. He oversaw VGCC's implementation of the federal direct student loan program in 2011-2012. Clemmons has also been a co-advisor for the college's Male Mentoring Program and has chaired the Financial Resources and Physical Resources Subcommittee as part of the college's preparation for reaffirmation of accreditation. He has been a member of the North Carolina Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators and served on the association's Legislative Advisory Committee.

On August 17, 2013, President Dr. Stelfanie Williams presented VGCC's annual awards, the Glen Raven Excellence in Teaching and Leadership Awards, to a pair of outstanding employees. Glen Raven, Inc., the manufacturer with a site in Norlina, is a longtime supporter of VGCC. In addition to sponsoring the annual stipends to recognize excellence among VGCC instructors and staff members, Glen Raven has endowed several scholarships for students.

WENDY FRANDBEN FACULTY MEMBER OF YEAR

Wendy Frandsen, an English instructor, was chosen as the Faculty Member of the Year for 2012-2013. Frandsen has spent her entire 25-year professional teaching career at VGCC. She earned a B.A. in College Scholars with an emphasis in Poetry and an M.A. in English with an emphasis in Creative Writing from the University of Tennessee prior to joining the faculty in 1987. In addition to teaching English and humanities courses, she initiated and served as the first head of the college's Developmental Studies program (1991-2006), a post in which she coordinated developmental English, reading and mathematics and established the Academic Skills Center. Frandsen then served as Program Head for English from 2006-2012, when she chose to return to full-time teaching. She co-created the "Southern Culture" course, one of the N.C. community college system's most rigorous and popular humanities offerings, and co-wrote the award-winning textbook based on that course. Frandsen also wrote another textbook currently used at VGCC, "Speaking Southern, Writing English: A Grammar Handbook." Frandsen received the VGCC College Transfer Chairman's Award for excellence in instruction in 1996 and in 2002.

Academic Excellence

The N.C. Community College System's Academic Excellence Award was presented to VGCC student Rita Hatzimimis of Wake Forest, shown above with President Dr. Stelfanie Williams as she graduated with a Radiography degree. Each year, one student from each of the 58 colleges in the state system is honored with the award.

Earning Top Scholarships In College Transfer

Three VGCC students — Allison Forsythe of Oxford, Haleigh Meffert of Louisburg and Tiffany Gill of Raleigh — were among only 30 North Carolina community college students transferring to a four-year institution who were selected to receive Golden LEAF Foundation Scholarships in 2013. VGCC was one of only three colleges in the state to have three transfer student recipients each, the most of any community college. Forsythe transferred to East Carolina University; Gill to William Peace University; and Meffert to N.C. State University.

Learning Leadership Through Student Development Program

College Transfer student Rachel E. Pottorn of Wake Forest was among just 28 students from across the state who participated in the 2012-2013 N.C. Community College Student Leadership Development Program. A member of the Phi Theta Kappa honor society, she graduated from VGCC in May 2013 with an Associate in Arts degree.

Becoming A 'One-Star Chapter'

VGCC's "Alpha Sigma Chi" chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society for students of two-year colleges, received a special commendation from the national organization in 2013. The chapter fulfilled the requirements to be named a "One Star Chapter," as part of the "Five Star Chapter Development Plan." Also, in 2013, VGCC honored 77 students as the newest inductees into the PTK, joining more than 1,000 students selected since 1991.

Ready for the Working World

Graduates at VGCC's 44th commencement exercises were instructed to “go big or don't go at all” by featured speaker Dr. Tom Houlihan. A resident of Oxford, member of the State Board of Community Colleges and former member of the VGCC Board of Trustees, Houlihan addressed more than 470 graduates before they received their diplomas and degrees on May 10, 2013. VGCC also awarded 158 Adult High School diplomas and 518 General Educational Development (GED) equivalency diplomas in a separate ceremony on May 2, 2013, in the VGCC Civic Center.

U.S. Senator Visits Franklin Campus

Five Stars For Five Straight Evaluations For VGCC Child Care Centers

In March 2013, the state of North Carolina again awarded five-star licenses — the highest possible ratings — to the Child Care Centers at VGCC’s Main Campus and Franklin Campus. Since the N.C. Division of Child Development and Early Education began the current system of rating child day care centers, VGCC’s two centers have both earned the five-star rating in five consecutive evaluations.

here comes the sun

One of VGCC's many industry partners is Semprius, an innovator in high concentration photovoltaic (HCPV) solar modules, which are manufactured at the company's facility in Henderson, not far from VGCC's Main Campus. In 2013, Semprius completed the installation of a 17-kilowatt commercial HCPV system on campus, near Building 10. The system not only offsets a portion of the college's energy requirements, but also strengthens the relationship between VGCC and Semprius by providing a real-world opportunity for students to learn about Semprius' technology in a field setting.

VGCC Offers New Career Paths

VGCC launched two new curriculum programs and expanded a third. The Pharmacy Technology program expanded by adding a new option for students to earn an Associate in Applied Science degree in the field, starting with the Fall 2013 semester. The degree qualifies graduates for employment as "validating technicians," as defined by the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy. Vance-Granville also added the Paralegal Technology curriculum program to prepare individuals to work under the supervision of attorneys by performing routine legal tasks and assisting with legal work. Offered in collaboration with Wake Technical Community College, the Simulation and Game Development curriculum provides a broad background in creative arts, visual arts, audio-video technology, creative writing, modeling, design, programming and management.

VGCC Marks Anniversary

On May 16, 1963, the N.C. General Assembly created the Department of Community Colleges by combining 20 industrial education centers, six public junior colleges and five extension units. In 2013, the North Carolina Community College System celebrated 50 years of creating student success, with each college holding special events.

On March 6, VGCC joined its sister colleges across the state in celebrating “Dr. W. Dallas Herring Day” to honor the legacy of the longtime chair of the State Board of Education, who was instrumental in the creation of the community college system. During a brief ceremony and reception on the college’s Main Campus, President Dr. Stelfanie Williams told an assembly of trustees, faculty and staff that Herring established the system’s “open door” philosophy. She also unveiled a portrait of Herring, a copy of which was given to each of the state’s 58 community colleges. Commissioned as part of the 50th anniversary celebration, the portraits were sponsored by Duplin Winery and by the N.C. Community Colleges Foundation.

ry With Dinner Theater

VGCC's Drama and Culinary Arts departments collaborated to showcase the talents of our students in the college's first-ever Dinner Theater, on the evenings of April 25 and April 26 in the Civic Center. Students in the Culinary Arts program served dinner each night, which was followed by a production of the classic play, "Our Town," by Thornton Wilder. The cast included not only VGCC students, but also a few alumni, faculty and staff.

Also to commemorate the 50th Anniversary, UNC-TV produced short documentaries on each of the state's 58 community colleges. UNC-TV aired a segment on VGCC as part of "North Carolina Now." Producer Rick Sullivan conducted interviews for the VGCC segment with Dr. Stefanie Williams and others at the Main Campus and at the college's high-tech simulation lab at Maria Parham Medical Center. Sullivan focused in part on how the college serves the community by collaborating with partners such as the nearby hospital.

President Dr. Stefanie Williams was presented an original quilt (with matching pillowcases) from the VGCC personal enrichment quilting class students and their instructor. This commemorated both her first year as president and the 50th Anniversary of the N.C. Community College System.

A Closer Look At Advanced Manufacturing

VGCC held an Advanced Manufacturing Career Day in the Civic Center on April 9, 2013, during N.C. Manufacturing Awareness Week. Approximately 400 high school students from Vance, Granville, Franklin and Warren counties attended in order to learn more about future job opportunities and training. VGCC's Industry Services and Applied Technologies departments organized the event in partnership with career and technical education departments from the four county public school systems. At left, high school students talk with Applied Technologies Department Chair Wesley Williams. Williams is also the program head and instructor for the Electronics Engineering Technology curriculum program at VGCC.

Exploring Technical Careers

VGCC continued to help area middle and high school students explore technical career fields by holding an "Applied Technologies Expo" in the Civic Center on October 15, 2012. Electrical Systems Technology program head Robert Hudson, right, showed students a model that demonstrated residential electrical wiring during the Expo.

Adult High School Grad Inspires Students To Continue At VGCC

At VGCC's Adult Basic Skills commencement exercises on May 2, 2013, new graduates were inspired to continue their education by one of the speakers, Devonte Howard of Oxford, who completed the Adult High School Diploma program in 2010 and went on to enroll in the VGCC Welding program. With support from his instructors and the VGCC Male Mentoring program, Howard became such a good student that he earned an endowed scholarship from the college.

Zooming In

VGCC faculty, including many from Arts & Sciences, conducted the third annual Science Camp for 41 local middle school students in June 2013. Campers learned about techniques used in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) fields. Above, Science Camp participants Al-Leain Young of Henderson, left, and Martina O’Briant of Stem use a microscope to view slides that they made of human cheek cells.

Producing Protein

VGCC held its first-ever Biotech Workshop for local high school students over the course of two Saturdays in April 2013 in the Biotech lab on Main Campus. From left, students Susana Garcia and Georgina Vanegas examine Green Fluorescent Protein, which they had produced.

Loving The Earth

VGCC held Earth Day festivals on April 22, 2013, on both Main Campus and South Campus. At both locations, students competed with one another to create projects to educate attendees about various environmental issues. From left, Becky Anderson, Zenaia Champion and Svetlana O’Hara won the third, second and first-place prizes, respectively, at Main Campus.

Sanders-Guption, who graduated in May 2013 with an Associate in Arts degree, also served as student speaker at commencement.

UNC Professor Tackles Global Awareness

Noted economic historian Dr. Peter Coclanis of UNC-Chapel Hill, shown talking with Vance County Early College High School student Ramonte' Douglas, presented a seminar at VGCC on April 3, 2013, entitled, "India, China, and the United States: The Battle for Global Economic Supremacy in the 21st Century." Coclanis' presentation was the seventh installment of an International Speakers Series sponsored by the Global Awareness Committee in partnership with the UNC World View program.

PBL Boasts Largest Membership

VGCC Honors Native Americans

VGCC's first annual "Native American Appreciation Day" was held in the Civic Center on November 26, 2012, during the national celebration of Native American Heritage Month. Cosmetology students from all four campuses helped to organize the event, the highlight of which was a performance by dancers and drummers from the local Haliwa-Saponi Tribe.

SBC, Chambers Launch Inaugural Business Summit

Representatives of area businesses and community leaders gathered in the VGCC Civic Center on November 7, 2012, for the inaugural Small Business Summit, organized by the VGCC Small Business Center in partnership with the area chambers of commerce. The event, sponsored by Duke Energy and Progress Energy, focused on "Plugged-In, Productive & Profitable — The New Face of Business." Seated, from left, Jack Smalley, director of human resources learning and development for Express Employment Professionals; Martin Brossman, a success coach, speaker, trainer and author; and David Genetti, president of Toyota of Henderson, were the three guest speakers at the summit.

County Gift Aids EMS Training

The Vance County Fire and Emergency Medical Services Department presented Vance-Granville Community College with a surplus ambulance to aid emergency medical training in February 2013. Randy Owen, shown third from left, said the ambulance is being used for mock drills that can now be more convenient, effective and frequent. Previously the college had to borrow ambulances from EMS departments in the surrounding counties. VGCC Makes Economic Impact In Four-County Region

Economic Modeling Specialists Intl. (EMSI) studied the socioeconomic contributions of Vance-Granville Community College to our region and our state, focusing on the 2012-2013 year. Below are some highlights of that study.

How Students Benefit:

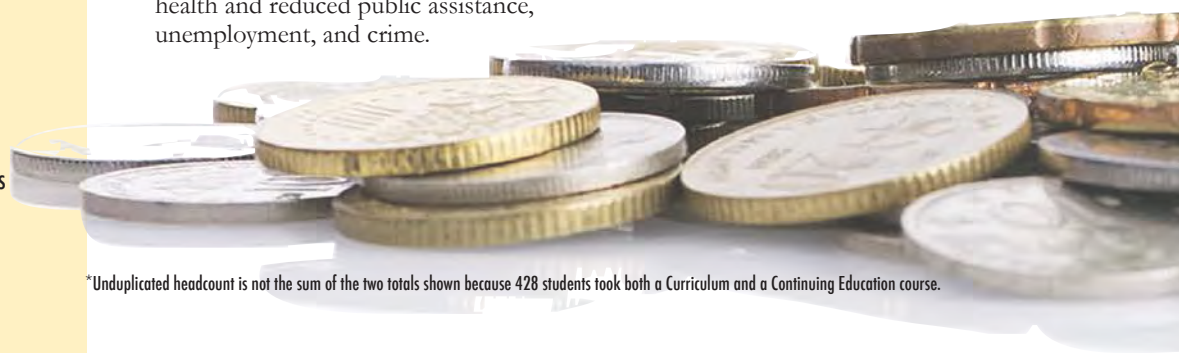

- VGCC enriches the lives of students and increases their lifetime incomes. For every $1.00 the student invests in a VGCC education, he or she will receive approximately $7.70 in higher future earnings over the course of a working career.
- The student's average payback period (time needed to recover all costs related to education) is 6.3 years.
- Over the course of a working lifetime, associate's degree graduates in the VGCC service area earn $318,500 more than someone with a high school diploma.
- Students enjoy an attractive 24.5% rate of return on their VGCC educational investment.

How Taxpayers Benefit:

- For every dollar appropriated by state and local governments to VGCC, taxpayers will see a return with a cumulative added value of $2.50 in the form of higher tax revenues and avoided social costs.
- State and local governments will receive a rate of return of 9.3% on their investments in VGCC. By comparison, economists typically assume a 3% rate of return when dealing with government investments.
- Higher student earnings and associated increases in property income generate about $2.5 million in added tax revenue each year.
- The state saves an estimated $1.6 million per year from VGCC's impact on improved health and reduced public assistance, unemployment, and crime.

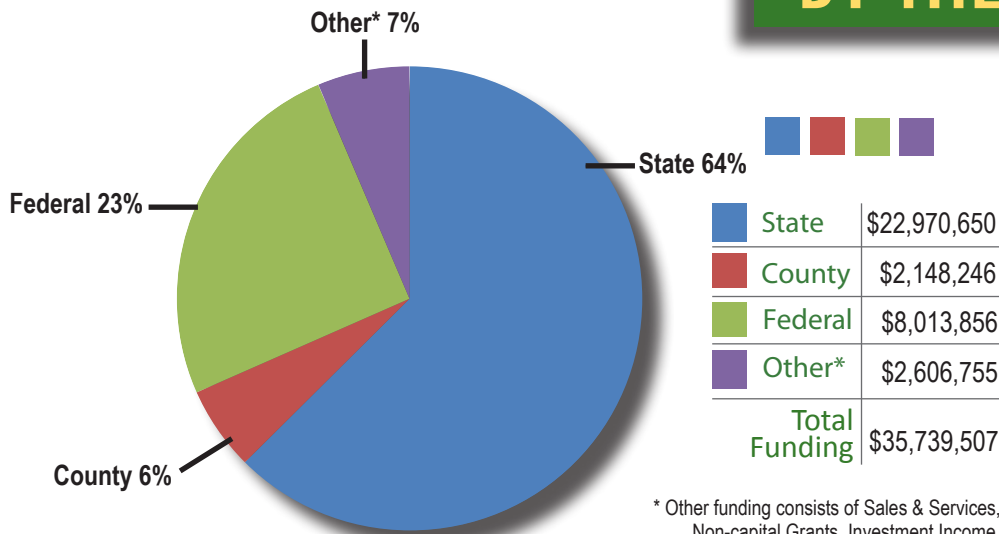

How Our Economy Benefits:

- VGCC contributes to the vitality of both our local and state economies.
- VGCC's operations, including salaries for faculty and staff, add $22.3 million to the regional economy each year.
- An estimated 99% of VGCC students remain in North Carolina and contribute to economic growth.
- The increased productivity of workers and businesses due to the accumulation of education from VGCC by the service area workforce contributes approximately $271.3 million in added income each year.
- VGCC accounts for 6.4% of the overall "gross regional product," which measures the value of all goods and services produced in the four-county area.

*Unduplicated headcount is not the sum of the two totals shown because 428 students took both a Curriculum and a Continuing Education course.

Awarding more endowed scholarships than any program of its kind in North Carolina, VGCC's Endowment and Scholarship Fund has received more than $6 million in gifts to date, including funds in trusts naming the college as beneficiary. Over 7,000 scholarships have been awarded to VGCC students through the fund since 1982. As of June 30, 2013, the Endowment Fund provided 306 endowed scholarships for full-time students, as listed in three categories (Presidential Scholar Award, Presidential Merit Award and Academic Achievement Scholarship) on the following pages. Another 18 annual [non-endowed] scholarships were presented.

VGCC scholarships have been endowed by numerous individuals, industries, businesses, civic groups, churches and the college's faculty and staff. This year, the faculty and staff continued their annual tradition of supporting the Endowment Fund by contributing more than $24,000. Also during the 2012-13 year, several new scholarships were endowed, including the W. Beverly Tucker/Guild Gift Gallery Presidential Scholar Award, two Farrington Foundation Presidential Merit Awards, the Rain Park Presidential Merit Award, the Rain Park Academic Achievement scholarship and the Maria Parham Medical Center Volunteer Services Academic Achievement scholarship.
